

ULSTER OVATION TO BALFOUR. E. H. NEBEKER NOW IN CHARGE.

People Draw His Carriage Through the Streets of Belfast.

He Will Support the Irish Dissenters Who Fight Home Rule.

BELFAST. April 2.—The Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, Conservative leader in the House of Commons, and formerly Chief Secretary for Ireland, arrived in Belfast to-day to deliver addresses in support of the opposition of the Ulster Unionists to Home Rule.

A vast concourse greeted Mr. Balfour on his arrival, and the thousands of Unionists cheered loudly as he made his appearance. The multitude was as enthusiastic as they took the horses out of the carriage which bore the Conservative statesman, and eagerly sought the honor of drawing the vehicle through the streets.

There was an extensive display of flags, and bands played Orange and Loyalist airs. Numerous delegations presented a formal and cordial greeting to the ex-secretary, dwelling on the loyalty of Ulster to the Union with Great Britain, and extolling the services of Belfast to the cause.

Mr. Balfour replied with an express declaration of the resolution of the Conservatives to resist Home Rule to the utmost.

At Larne, some fifteen miles from Belfast, Mr. Balfour had an enthusiastic greeting, a formal address to an audience in behalf of the Ulster Unionists, to which he delivered a reply appropriate from the Conservative standpoint.

MUTINY IN A ROMAN PRISON.

Convicts Burn Bedding and Furniture—Blast Subsides by Troops.

ROME. April 3.—A mutiny that threatened to have serious consequences broke out yesterday evening in the St. Michael Prison.

The prisoners have been discontented for some time on account of the poor quality and meager quantity of the rations allowed them. They have also other grievances.

Early Sunday evening their discontent reached such a high pitch that they openly defied the prison officials and made a wreck of the place, burning the furniture and bedding and working all the destruction they could.

The military was called to assist the warden, and the revolt was then soon quelled.

MRS. JAMES C. CORLETT SUED.

Judgment by Default for $100 Entered for Newspaper Clippings.

In Part III. of the City Court, today Mrs. Ole Corlett, wife of the well-known physician, was called to answer suit in a case against her, by Henry C. Hart, for the amount of $100,000, recovered from a German newspaper.

Mrs. Corlett did not answer, and the court ordered that an injunction should issue against her.

The following report made by Assistant Treasurer Edward Sartorius might induce the financial condition of the corporation to be questioned:

"At the end of Mr. Corlett's term, when the last Mr. Corlett took charge,

"As at present, in each case the term of office has ended, he and Corlett are joint trustees, and the sum of $100,000 has been distributed among them."

This is the third time in the history of the United States that the Treasurer of the Sub-Treasury has been designated as a trustee, after the death of Hart and the appointment of a son of Hart or, in the case of the expiration of Mr. Corlett's term, when Mr. Jordan took charge, and the term of office when Mr. Corlett took charge.

The last time such a sum as may have been received in trust for the Sub-Treasurers will be withdrawn from the vaults under the supervision of representatives of the Treasury and sent to the Sub-Treasurer.

They were not at the Sub-Treasury to obtain from the terms of the office, but the sum of $100,000 was deposited in the safe of the vaults, and the cash necessary for beginning business on Monday morning, about $1000.

As a result of the new arrangement, Mr. Corlett turned over to the books of the Sub-Treasury $46,972,244,000, but the amount of the remainder of the cash deposited in the vaults and Mr. Corlett's account has been appropriated and paid.

In the mean time, such sums as may have been received in trust for the Sub-Treasurers will be withdrawn from the vaults under the supervision of representatives of the Treasury and sent to the Sub-Treasurer.

The same Corlett said this morning that he expected that the new Sub-Treasurer would be appointed to his office, and he will be appointed to the Sub-Treasurer.

Mrs. Anna Potter.

A new law in Kansas provides that liquor, cigars and cigarette smokers be taxed, and this will give a large increase in revenue.

The law provides that the amount of money whose funds are utilized may not be registered. This itself has been a cause for bitter strife.
